

Self-Monitoring Basics & Best Practices

JULY 10-12, 2018 | ALBUQUERQUE, NM

OVERVIEW

Recipients of the Indian Housing Block Grant (IHBG) are required to complete an annual self-monitoring to ensure compliance with IHBG and other applicable federal requirements. During this 3-day course, participants will learn how to properly plan and execute a self-monitoring review with the help of appropriate case studies, exercises, and hands-on review of HUD's self-monitoring plan checklists. Other training topics will include: sampling methods, managing the self-monitoring process, preparation and submission of the self-monitoring report, and developing and implementing a Corrective Action Plan.

LOCATION

Hotel Andaluz

125 Second Street Northwest
Albuquerque, NM 87102

Barcelona Ballroom

Single - $93/night
Double - $113/night

Register Now

TRAINER

Christine Dennis is a Certified Public Accountant specializing in service to tribal government entities conducting housing, gaming, and economic development activities. She has worked with over 50 tribes throughout the United States over the last 23 years. In addition, she is a training and technical assistance provider and presenter specializing in Federal regulations, financial management and internal control, compliance, self-monitoring, audit preparation, IHP/APR, and procurement for tribes and tribally designated housing entities.

TRAINING REGISTRATION

Registration for this training is FREE, but you must register to attend.

Registration is available online at:

<http://www.cvent.com/d/rgq026>

HOTEL RESERVATIONS

Room Block Name: HUD Self-Monitoring Training

Room Block Cut-Off Date: June 22, 2018

For Hotel Reservations: 505-242-9090

Attendees are responsible for travel, lodging and meals.

